Re: Application for the [Job Title] position at [Company Name]

Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm writing to apply for the [Job Title] position at [Company Name]. I'm a full-stack developer with a business and marketing background, and I built my skills by teaching myself to code while working inside Scholastic Australia, turning the slow, manual processes I saw firsthand into production software.

Over the past year I've designed and shipped four full-stack systems now used across Scholastic's Australian and New Zealand operations, including a custom CMS with AI-assisted page generation, a retail submission tool that turned the better part of two weeks of manual work into a one-minute task, a toy safety compliance checker, and a travel booking and charge management tool. I own each system end to end, from database schema through to deployment, and I've led security remediation work across production apps.

I started at Scholastic in the warehouse, which led to a sales support internship, and from there into a Business Process Developer role and now AI Web Developer. That path has given me a first-hand view of how work actually flows through a business, and I bring that perspective to everything I build: I look at a problem from both sides, what the business needs and how to build it.

I work best in environments that reward initiative and quick learning, and I'm comfortable taking ownership of a problem and driving it to completion. Outside of development, my background in team sports has shaped my resilience and how I collaborate, and I bring that energy to every team I join. I'd welcome the chance to talk about how I can bring that same approach to the [Job Title] role at [Company Name].

Thank you for your time and consideration. I've attached my resume for more detail, and references are available upon request.

Sincerely,

Sam Lappan
